

People Helping People

In keeping with the credit union philosophy of “people helping people” CCU recently made donations to a number of deserving charitable organizations with funds from its Employee Volunteer Program. Our commitment to the community is a fundamental aspect of our core values and we are always happy to help!

Cloverbelt Credit Union was happy to help the Hatley Area Fire & Ambulance District replenish some of their supplies. CCU recently made some donations to the Wausau Warming Center. Kathy Volkmann of CCU presented some hand and foot warmers, thermal underwear and snacks to a volunteer of the Wausau Warming Center. In this frigid weather, the donations were very much appreciated!

With a donation of dual language books (and a paper shredder) to the Marathon County Literacy Council, Cloverbelt Credit Union is helping area adults enhance their lives with English literacy skills. Erin (right) from the Literacy Council was excited to accept a supply of Spanish/English and Hmong/English books from Janel, who works at the CCU office in downtown Wausau. CCU recently donated a supply of bus tokens to the Open Door of Marathon County, an organization that provides charitable and educational services to individuals who are incarcerated or have been recently released from jail. Executive Director Anne Drow (left) happily accepted the tokens from Carey von Gnechten, CCU marketing director.

Wendy (right), a member service rep at our Weston office, was delighted to present Cloverbelt Credit Union's donation of much needed items to the Everest Area Special Olympics including a starter pistol, stopwatches and whistles. Pictured with her are bowling and athletics/track coach Dave Hackbarth and athlete Felicia Doan. Felicia has been involved with Special Olympics for over 12 years!

Students in the Head Start program of Marathon County Child Development Agency Inc. were smiling when they received Cloverbelt Credit Union's donation of griddles, skillets and a toaster for use in their breakfast and lunch programs, along with boots and mittens. Kathy Volkmann and Lynn Krueger from Cloverbelt were surrounded by rambunctious and giggly students, who did their best to stand still for the photo.
